The website showed many colorful items: sketchbooks, pencils, markers, and painting sets. Leen read the reviews carefully to make sure the products were good.

After a few minutes, she found a drawing kit that looked perfect. It had everything Sami needed, and the price was reasonable. She added it to her cart and checked the delivery time. It said the package would arrive in three days. Leen smiled because the birthday celebration was still a week away.

Before paying, she asked her mother for permission. Her mother looked at the item and agreed. They completed the payment together, and Leen received a confirmation message on her screen. She felt excited and proud because she bought something useful with her own saved money.

Three days later, the doorbell rang. The delivery worker handed over a small box. Leen opened it and checked the kit carefully. Everything looked perfect. On Sami's birthday, he opened the gift and hugged her happily. Leen felt happy because her brother like the gift.
