

Прочитайте текст. Из каждой строки (B9–B18) выпишите ОДНО лишнее слово.

- B9. Most people who are under the impression that doing something by mistake is B10. quite different from doing something on purpose. In fact, according to by some
 B11. psychologists, many accidents do not, on the whole, really have happen by
 B12. chance. There may be good reasons for actions which seem us to be accidental.
 B13. For example, someone who may fails to arrive on time for a meeting at work
 B14. may be worried about his or her job, or be in much difficulties at home. In
 B15. every other words, there are often good reasons for behaviour which seems at first
 B16. to be accidental. Of course, some else people are involved in more accidents than
 B17. lots others. These people are known as 'accident prone'. In general, they either
 B18. suffer from stress, or could have been a physical illness without knowing about it.