

QUANTIFIERS

REMEMBER

- Quantifiers show the number or amount of something. Some can be used with both countable and uncountable nouns (e.g. a lot of / lots of), some only with countable nouns (e.g. a few / few) and some only with uncountable nouns (e.g. a little / little).
- Some quantifiers (all, both, each, either, every, many, much, neither, some) can come immediately before a noun. – all people
- When we want to use these quantifiers before an article, a possessive or a pronoun, we use of. – all of my friends, both of the people, neither of us. With all and both, we can leave of out before an article or a possessive, but not before a pronoun.
- When we want to use every before an article, a possessive or a pronoun, we use one of. – every one of my friends
- With no and none, we use no when we are talking generally and none before an article, a possessive or a pronoun. – No phones are allowed. None of the phones was black.

- Choose the correct word or phrase to complete each sentence. In one sentence, both options are correct.
 - Could you give me an / some information about this dance class?
 - Nowadays, I only have time for a little / a few activities.
 - I got lots of / several advice about the best camera to buy for my photography course.
 - I'm afraid that neither / neither of us has any interesting hobbies.
 - No / None of my school friends is interested in painting as a leisure activity.
 - Each / Each of person I invited to come to the cinema with me was busy.
 - Both / Both of my parents love watching plays at the theatre.
 - I think all / all of young people would benefit from getting involved in drama.

- Find and correct six mistakes in the text.

It's here!

I've got a really exciting news! I've finally got my drone! For those of you who don't know, drone flying is becoming really popular. In the past, little people had drones, but now more and more of my friends are getting them – including me! My friend and I are going out this weekend to try it out and neither us can wait! Of course, you have to remember few things if you're going to fly a drone. Safety is very important, so make sure you can see your drone at all of times. Also, remember that privacy is important to a lots of people, so don't fly over people's gardens or crowded public places taking photos. I'll post pics here when I get it up in the air!
