STEVE JOBS

Steven Paul Jobs was born in San Francisco in 1955. He was adopted at birth by Paul and Clare Jobs. His father was American and worked as a mechanic and a carpenter. His mother was an Armenian American accountant. He became interested in computers when he was a teenager and attended lectures after school at Hewlett Packard. In 1974, Jobs got a job as a technician at the videogame maker Atari. He saved enough money to backpack around India and then returned to Atari, where he met Steve Wozniak, a friend who shared the same interests in computers and electronics.

Jobs and Wozniak were the founders of Apple Inc. In 1976 Jobs persuaded Wozniak to make a computer and sell it. Together, they developed the Mac. It was the first small computer with a user-friendly interface to be commercially successful. He developed a passion for style and functional perfection, which became Apple trademarks. The introduction of the iMac and other innovative products like the iPod, iPhone, iTunes and iPad made Apple a powerful brand.

Jobs was also a chief executive at Pixar Animation Studios and a member of the Walt Disney Company. He created Oscar-winning movies such as 'Toy Story' and 'Finding Nemo'. Jobs' advice for success is: "You've got to find what you love." He died in October 2011 when he was 56.
