

Writing a diary entry

A diary entry is informal (you can be chatty and must use 'I' or we') and gives opinions on feelings.

Congratulations, Astronauts! You have spent a total of 532 Earth months travelling space and you have finally found a new planet that can support life!

It is your job to write a diary entry that explains the following information:

1. How did you find the new planet?
2. What does the planet look like?
3. Are there any people or animals on your planet?
4. Are there any odd plants on your planet?
5. How do you feel now that you've made your discovery?
6. Will you head home now, or stay and turn this new planet into your new home?

Your diary must be written in first person.

Use your Writing Notebook to write your diary entry.

Your diary must use impressive feeling words.

Word Bank

grateful, enthusiastic, content, delighted, depressed, frustrated, upset, ambitious, confident, unique, certain, annoyed,
disgusted, outraged, mixed up, anxious, insecure, troubled,
inspired, motivated, creative, vibrant, determined, refreshed