The School Garden

Ms. Green, the science teacher, had an idea to start a school garden. She asked her students to help plant flowers and vegetables. On Saturday morning, the students brought seeds, watering cans, and tools.
Tom planted carrot seeds, while Sofia chose to grow colorful marigolds. Everyone worked hard, digging the soil and planting seeds. After weeks of watering and care, the garden started to grow. Bright flowers bloomed, and the vegetables were ready to harvest.
The students were proud of their work. They gave some of the vegetables to the school kitchen to use for lunch. Ms. Green told them, "You've made our school more beautiful

The Rainy Day

One rainy day, Ella sat by the window, watching the raindrops race down the glass. She felt bored because she couldn't play outside. Her mom brought out a box of puzzles and said, "Let's do this together!" Ella smiled and started working on the puzzle with her mom. It was a picture of a sunny beach with colorful umbrellas. They worked for hours, laughing and talking as they put the pieces together.

By the time the puzzle was finished, the rain had stopped. Ella ran outside to see a big, bright rainbow in the sky. She was happy the rainy day turned out so fun!

1-Why couldn't Ella play outside?

2- What did Ella's mom bring to cheer her up?

3- What was the puzzle a picture of?

4-What did Ella see when the rain stopped?

5- How did Ella feel at the end of the day?

The Lost Kite

Sam and Mia loved flying their kite in the park. One windy afternoon, they ran and laughed as their red kite soared high in the sky. Suddenly, strong wind pulled the kite away from Sam's hands."Oh no!" cried Mia as they watched the kite fly over the trees. The kids ran after it, but the kite was stuck on a tall tree branch. They tried jumping to reach it, but it was too high. Just then, a kind man walking his dog saw their trouble. He used a long stick to pull the kite down. "Here you go!" he said with a smile. Sam and Mia thanked him and promised to hold the kite tighter next time.

1-What color was the kite?

2- What happened to the kite?

3- How did Sam and Mia feel when the kite got stuck?

4-Who helped them get the kite back?

5- What did Sam and Mia promise to do next time?
