

Sam Green is from the UK, but he works at a centre for sick animals in Mexico. He loves his job working with animals and his days are never the same.

Sam gets up early every day and he goes running before he has breakfast. Then he goes to work. In the morning, he works on his computer, and in the afternoon, Sam teaches people about the animals in the centre. Visitors can come to the centre to see them. Sam also collects information about the animals. He uses this information to write reports about them.

There are lots of animals in the centre, but Sam's favourite are the parrots. He thinks they're amazing. Some of them are very friendly and the visitors chat with them.

When he isn't at work, Sam writes books about Mexican animals for children and he listens to music. He also goes biking and plays video games with his son, Paul.
