Young travel bloggers write about their next holiday

Marie

Last week, I wrote about my winter holiday in Iceland with my family, so I guess I should tell you about my next trip. Our football team is going to Morocco in April for 10 days – I can't wait! We're going to start in the capital Rabat, where we'll play a few matches. Then we'll have a day trip in the desert on a camel and two days climbing in the mountains. Our coach says we'll need to pack for hot and cold weather.

Candy

We're going to Costa Rica in just over two weeks! Yesterday Dad booked us a seven-day trip because we were all very cold this January. Everyone says it's a beautiful green country with rainforests, national parks and mountains. Mum loves nature, so I'm sure she'll take lots of photos. I'm a bit afraid of wild animals like monkeys, but I'm excited about the journey. Unfortunately, we won't have time for Tortuga Island, which has cool beaches.

Ambar

I can't believe it! I'm going to Japan next July for almost three weeks. My cousins live in the capital, so they're going to pick me up at the airport. Don't tell anyone but I'm scared of flying – I hope it isn't windy. Tokyo is very warm in July, so we'll probably go to Hokkaido, an island in the north. We'll visit the city of Sapporo for the jazz festival and then camp in the forest, so we can ride our bikes.

It's going to be sunny

To: Abigail

From: Isobel

Hi Abigail,

We're going to Rainbow Forest (0) ON Saturday. Would you like to come? My uncle (1) going to drive, so why don't we pick you up at 9 am? The forest is beautiful (2) the autumn. My aunt wants to walk to the lake and we're going to rent (3) boat there. I think it's a great idea. We can have lunch on the island.

You (4) probably bring warm clothes and walking boots because it's often cold there. Don't worry (5) bringing food or money.

Call me if (6) can come.
