PRESENT CONTINUOUS

This weekend is very busy for all of us. On Saturday morning, I am meeting my cousin for breakfast. He is playing a football match in the afternoon. It's starting at three o'clock. In the evening, we're having dinner together. I'm not staying out late because we are not having a free day on Sunday. He isn't coming with us on Sunday because he's visiting his grandparents. Are you coming to the dinner? What time is it starting?

Complete the rules of the present continuous tense by looking at the text. Then, copy one example sentence IN BOLD FROM THE TEXT to illustrate it.

1- In affirmative sentences, we use _____ with I. For example, _____.

2- In negative sentences, we say I _____. For example, _____.

3- In affirmative sentences, we use ____ with he/she/it. For example, _____.

4- In negative sentences, we say he/she/it _____. For example, _____.

5- In affirmative sentences, we use _____ with you/we/they. For example, _____.

6- In negative sentences, we say we/you/they _____. For example, _____.

7- In questions, we change the order of the words. So, we say _____ you...? or _____ he/she/it...? or _____ I...? For example, _____.

LIVEWORKSHEETS