Reading

Zoey looks at her friend Marisol and hopes that her new jacket is a compliment. She says, “My mom took me to get it.”

She won’t have time to get new clothes after the baby comes.

Marisol says, “It’s so pretty!”

Zoey smiles. She isn’t sure if she is anxious for Marisol’s approval, but it makes her feel good when she gets it.

The two girls leave the classroom for lunch.

Marisol hands her backpack to Zoey. “Bring my backpack!” Marisol shouts, and quickly runs to the picnic table.
