First, I walked streit on from the hotel and went across a small bridgi. After that, I turned ist and saw a big factori on my left.

Then I walked souf for a few minutes. The road continued to the vest, and at the end of the street I finally saw the castle. It was a beautiful old building on a hill.

In the town square there was a fun competisan, and people had to searchi for small flags hidden around the castle.
