Unit 8.4: Stories We Remember

Listen to the students talking about their story preferences and answer the questions.

Yousef	Amira	Nadya
Which best describes Yousef's taste in stories?	What does Amira's description suggest about her reading preferences?	What is Nadya's overall opinion of her favourite story?
What is implied by "not too predictable"?	What is Amira's main reason for finding the traditional story fascinating?	What does Nadya suggest makes a good children's story?
Why did Yousef enjoy his favourite story as a child?	What deeper idea does Amira identify in the story?	Why was Nadya able to remember the story so well?
What does Yousef's comment about noticing missing parts show?	What does Amira mean by "appeals on several levels"?	What can we infer about Nadya's preferences?

Try the challenge questions below:

Which speaker gives the most detailed explanation of their opinion?
Which statement best compares the speakers?
Which statement best explains why all three speakers enjoyed their favourite stories?
