Task 2

- You are going to read an article about a strange city council regulation. Some words are missing from the text.
- Your task is to write the missing words on the dotted lines (12-20) after the text.
- Use only one word in each gap.
- There is an example (0) at the beginning.

SENSE OF HUMOUR FAILURE

A council has banned staff from using mother-in-law jokes after declaring (0) _____ sexist and disrespectful to "family elders".

Despite surviving from Roman times, this kind of humour is (12) _____ longer considered acceptable, according to officials at the London Borough of Barnet. The order (13) _____ issued in a 12-page booklet entitled Cultural Awareness. It states: "Humour can obviously be incredibly culture-specific, and is very open to misinterpretation by other cultures. And don't forget when you don't know (14) _____ people are laughing, it is very easy to imagine that they are laughing (15) _____ you. British mother-in-law jokes, as well as offensively sexist, can also be seen as offensive on the grounds (16) _____ they disrespect elders or parents."

Barnet has been accused (17) _____ being completely insane by writer John Sessions. Past comedians Les Dawson and Bob Monkhouse (18) _____ probably turn in their graves if they heard about the restriction.

The earliest mother-in-law jokes date back to the first century AD, (19) _____ Juvenal wrote in Satire VI: "It is impossible to be happy while one's mother-in-law is still alive." By the 20th century Bob Monkhouse's stand-up routine included (20) _____ jokes as:

"My wife said 'Can my mother come down for the weekend?' So I said 'Why?' and she said: 'Well, she's been up on the roof for two weeks already'."

Task 3

- You are going to read an article about Chernobyl today. Some words are missing from the text.
- Use the words in brackets to form the words that fit in the gaps (21-30).
- Then write the appropriate form of these words on the lines after the text.
- There might be cases when you do not have to change the word in brackets.
- Use only one word for each gap.
- There is an example (0) at the beginning.

CHERNOBYL PLANTS ENDURE RADIOACTIVITY

Scientists have (0) _____ (cover) mechanisms that allow plants to thrive in (21) _____ (high) radioactive environments like Chernobyl. They analysed seeds from soybean and flax grown near the site of the Chernobyl nuclear reactor which exploded in 1986. The team says that plants may have an inborn (22) _____ (able) to cope with high levels of radioactivity. If disaster strikes, plants cannot move to better conditions - they either (23) _____ (adapt), or die.

The scientists noted that there were probably historic reasons why it was a lot easier for plants to get used to living in increased levels of (24) _____ (radiate). The reasons could go back millions of years. There was a lot more radioactivity on the surface back then than there is now, so when life was evolving, these plants came across radioactivity and they probably developed (25) _____ (survive) mechanisms.

Then the unbelievable happened. The (26) _____ (explode) of the Chernobyl nuclear power plant was said to be the worst nuclear disaster in human history. Scores of people died, hundreds suffered from terrible (27) _____ (sick) due to exposure to radioactive materials. The entire population of the (28) _____ (industry) city of Pripyat that housed the power plant's workforce was evacuated.

Many believed that the area would remain (29) _____ (life) for generations. Almost a quarter of a century later, Pripyat remains a ghost town. But despite (30) _____ (desert) streets, the soil is not bare - plants have sprung back to life.
