Read the following passage and choose the correct answer to each of the questions.

In Britain, the weather is not very good. There are very few hot days and it rains a lot so people spend a lot of time at home. Because of the cold weather, people in Britain spend a lot of money to keep their homes warm. British homes have a lot of furniture, and nearly all of them have carpets on the floors and heavy curtains.

Many houses in Britain are old, and some are more than 100 years old. These houses don't have enough protection against the cold, so heat goes out through the windows, doors, and chimneys. Many houses have a system called "central heating." This system heats all the rooms and also heats the water. Houses without central heating usually use gas, electric, or coal fires to stay warm. The rooms in most British houses are small.

Question 16: Why do British people spend a lot of time at home?
