III. For each question, choose the correct answer A, B, or C.

A Green Future

A. Dr. Sarah

Dr. Sarah is an ecologist who studies how human activity affects the natural world. She believes that people should live in harmony with nature and stop relying on fossil fuels. She has helped several governments implement new environmental policies. She says that for the sake of future generations, everyone needs to become more eco-aware in their daily lives.

B. Marcus

Marcus is an energy engineer who designs energy-efficient buildings and systems. He is currently working on a hydro-electric power project near a local river. He always sets aside part of his budget for research into cleaner energy sources such as geothermal power. He believes that renewable energy will eventually dominate the global energy market.

C. Dr. Yuna

Dr. Yuna is a psychologist who was diagnosed with a serious illness five years ago but continued working throughout her recovery. She was nominated for a national science award last year. She is notorious among her students for setting very high standards in her classes. Her research looks at how people's state of mind affects their willingness to make eco-friendly lifestyle changes.

Questions:

- Who helps governments create new rules to protect the environment? → _____
- Who works on projects that produce clean electricity from water? → _____
- Who received recognition for their work through an award nomination? → _____
- Who thinks renewable energy will take over the global market? → _____
- Who studies how thinking patterns affect people's environmental choices? → _____

III. Read the text and choose the correct words to fill in the blanks. Write ONE WORD ONLY for each blank.

Dr. Chen is a contemporary ecologist who has spent years studying how industrial activity affects the natural world. She grew up in a small town that was notorious for its heavy use of fossil fuels, and watching the local river slowly die was what first inspired her to pursue science. After completing her degree, she worked her way up to become one of the most respected voices in environmental research.

Her most recent project focuses on helping local governments implement practical policies to reduce carbon emissions. She believes that for the sake of future generations, every country must set aside a significant portion of its national budget for clean energy development. She often works with engineers who specialise in geothermal power and hydro-electric systems, as she believes these will eventually dominate the energy sector worldwide.

Despite being diagnosed with a chronic health condition two years ago, Dr. Chen has never slowed down. She was nominated for an international science award last year and continues to travel the world giving talks. She urges everyone, from politicians to schoolchildren, to live in harmony with nature and make more eco-aware choices in their daily lives.

- Dr. Chen's hometown was _____ for its heavy use of fossil fuels.
- She believes governments must _____ practical policies to reduce emissions.
- She thinks countries should _____ aside part of their budget for clean energy development.
