3. Is there any water on Mars?
   .....
4. Which is longer, a day on Earth or a day on Mars?
   .....
5. How long is a year on Mars?

Mars is called the Red Planet because of its reddish surface. There have been many explorations to Mars by humans since the mid-20th century. Scientists hope that we can find another planet to accommodate human life. There are major reasons why the climate on Mars is unsuitable for human life. Temperatures on Mars can be as low as -87 degrees Celsius and rarely get above 0 degrees Celsius. But the bigger problem is the lack of oxygen. 95% of the atmosphere is carbon dioxide (CO_2), and this is poisonous to breathe. Moreover, there is no water on Mars even though scientists have found traces of it. However, as early as the mid-19th century, scientists discovered that Mars had some similarities to Earth. A day on Mars is 24 hours, 39 minutes and 25 seconds, almost the same as a day on Earth. Mars also experiences seasons just as twice as long as an Earth year

Task 2. Read the following text and use the words given in the box to fill in the blanks.

Task 3. Choose the word which best fits each gap.

ARE THERE ANY ALIENS OUT THERE?

For years we Earthlings have wondered (1) _____ we are alone in the universe or we've got company in the shape of aliens. People have claimed to have met aliens, seen UFOs and some people even say they've been abducted by extraterrestrials. But what do we really know about them - if they (2) _____ at all?

Ever since we realised there (3) _____ be something out there our imaginations have created thousands of bizarre creatures. But at the moment no one knows what an alien might look like. Even if we do ever come (4)_____aliens in space, most scientists agree they probably won't look like little green men.

(5)_____aliens exists, experts reckon they're probably very small and look something like a bug.

Over the years thousands of people have been (6) _____that we Earthlings have been visited by aliens from other civilizations. But there's one problem with this - the number of aliens (7)_____discovered is zero. Task 4. Read and answer the questions.

Planets are large bodies that rotate around the sun. The inner planets, or terrestrial planets, are the four planets closest to the Sun: Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars. Even though these planets are all small and rocky, they have more differences than they have things in common.

Because Mercury is the closest to the sun, the side that faces the sun gets as hot as 427° Celsius. At the same time, the side that faces away from the sun is a freezing -173° Celsius. The extreme temperatures alone make it a very unlikely place for life. With an atmosphere too thin for human breathing, it's obvious that people won't be living on Mercury any time soon.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

The next planet from the sun is Venus. Below clouds of sulfuric gas lies 96% carbon dioxide atmosphere. That might be nice for a plant, since a plant "breathes" carbon dioxide, but not for a person. If you managed to survive the atmosphere, the surface of the planet is hot enough to melt solid metal. Venus has a temperature that is maintained at 462° Celsius, no matter where you go on the planet.

You are probably most familiar with Earth because it is your home planet. It has the perfect conditions for life. Earth's atmosphere and oceans help control the trickiest part of making a planet life-friendly: temperature. Earth is the only planet known to have liquid water.

Mars is the fourth farthest from the sun. Some people think it may be possible for life to exist there. Although scientists have not been able to find actual water on Mars, there seems to be evidence of water erosion on its surface. Its canyons and mountains are very similar to those found on Earth. The main difference is that there is no plant life. Some scientists believe that Mars may have been very much like Earth until something happened that made the water supply evaporate.

A. Decide if the statements are true (T) or false (F).

1. The inner planets are located closest to the sun.
2. Mercury is the hottest planet because it's the closest to the sun.
3. Venus has an atmosphere whose composition is similar to that of Earth.
4. The temperature on the surface of Venus is hot enough to melt lead.
5. Earth has a surface temperature that is uniquely friendly to life.
6. Scientists have proved that life once existed on Mars.
7. It seems that Mars once had liquid water on its surface.
8. Some scientists believe that Mars is very similar to the Earth.

B. Answer the questions.

9. What is another name for inner planets?

_____

10. Why can't people live on Mercury?

_____

11. What is the atmosphere of Venus primarily composed of?

_____

12. Which planet is hotter, Mercury or Venus?

_____

13. Is Earth the only planet with water in liquid form on its surface?

_____

14. What land features of Mars are similar to Earth's?
