Read the passage and choose the best answer for each question below.

Non-profit organizations that provide food to people who are in need are known as food banks. These organizations are typically run by volunteers who help with sorting and distributing food donations. Volunteering at a food bank is a great way to contribute to the community and assist individuals dealing with food insecurity.

When you volunteer at a food bank, you will be involved in a variety of tasks. A common responsibility is sorting and organizing the food donations. You might also be asked to pack food into boxes for distribution or distribute food directly to those in need. Some food banks also have programs where volunteers cook and prepare meals.

Volunteering at a food bank can be a rewarding experience. It offers the chance to meet new people and have a positive effect on your community. Helping to provide food for those in need can be very fulfilling. Volunteering can also help you learn new skills like working with others, organizing tasks, and solving problems.

In addition to the personal benefits, volunteering at a food bank has a positive impact on the community. By helping to distribute food to those who need it, volunteers contribute to the effort to fight food insecurity. This work can enhance the health and well-being of the people who receive the food. Volunteering also creates a stronger sense of community by bringing people together to work for a common purpose.

Climate Change

Climate change is one of the most talked-about issues today. Many countries are experiencing more extreme weather than ever before. In recent years, we have seen stronger storms, longer droughts, and heavier rainfall. These changes are affecting people's lives, Q29.1.....

One of the main reasons for this is the increase in greenhouse gases. Q29.2..... They trap heat in the Earth's atmosphere and cause temperatures to rise. This leads to more frequent heatwaves and wildfires, which are becoming a serious problem in many parts of the world.

In response, governments and organizations are taking steps to reduce emissions. Q29.3..... They are also promoting electric cars to help lower the amount of carbon dioxide in the air.

Despite these efforts, many experts say that more action is needed. If we do not act quickly, the effects of climate change will only get worse. This issue is not just about the environment, Q29.4.....
