Conserving energy is really important for the environment as well as for your wallets. Doing simple things like turning off lights when you leave a room, unplugging electronics when you're not using them, and using energy-saving devices can help a great deal. You can also use renewable energy sources like solar or wind power to save more energy. Now scientists can convert sunlight directly into electricity, and this energy from the sun offers a clean and abundant source of power that can be harnessed almost anywhere on Earth. Wind farms, both onshore and offshore, have become a familiar sight in many regions, providing a reliable source of renewable power that can help reduce human dependence on fossil fuels and lessen the negative impacts of climate change. When you save energy, you're not just helping the planet, and you're also saving money on your electricity bill. Even small changes in your daily habits can make a big difference over time, which is good for both the Earth and your bank account. Remember, every little bit helps, so let us all do our part to conserve energy and make the world a better place for our future generations.

23. Saving energy is unnecessary for the environment.

24. Unplugging electronics when they're not in use helps save money.

25. Solar energy is difficult to get and it is a limited source of power.

26. Making small changes in our daily habits leads to a great number of benefits.

27. What does the word "them" refer to?

A. lights B. electronics
C. devices D. wallets

28. What is the main idea of the paragraph?

A. You have to change your daily habits.
B. Scientists are finding more types of energy.
C. Let's save energy for a better world.
D. We live in an energetic and beautiful world.
