THE ORIGIN OF SOCCER

Soccer is one of the most popular sports in the world today. People in many countries play and watch it. But soccer did not start in one day. It has a long history.

A long time ago, people in different countries played ball games. In China, people played a game with a ball for fun and training. In Europe, people also played games where they kicked a ball in the street or in fields.

In England, people played many different kinds of ball games. But each place had different rules. This was confusing because people did not always agree.

In 1863, people in England made the first official rules for soccer. They also created a group called The Football Association. They decided that players should mainly use their feet, not their hands.

After that, soccer became more organized. Many schools and clubs started to play with the same rules. Slowly, soccer spread to other countries in the world.

Today, soccer is played everywhere. Many children enjoy playing it with their friends, and many people love watching it on TV.

1. What did people use to play soccer a long time ago?

2. Why were different rules a problem in the past?

3. Why do you think soccer is popular today?

4. Would you like to watch a soccer match in a stadium? Why or why not?

3. Write about an indoor AND outdoor activity you like. You should write about:

- what the activities are
- when you do them
- who you do them with
- why you like them

Indoor: something you do inside a building, like inside your house, school, or a sports hall. For example: reading, playing chess, or watching TV,...

Outdoor: something you do outside in the open air, like in a park, on a playground, or in a stadium. For example: playing football, riding a bike,...
