

Jack runs back down the long road. He climbs back down the beanstalk. And he takes the gold home to his mother.

'Look, Mother! Look!' he says.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Now they live well. But one day there's no more gold.

So Jack climbs up the beanstalk again. Up ... up ... up.

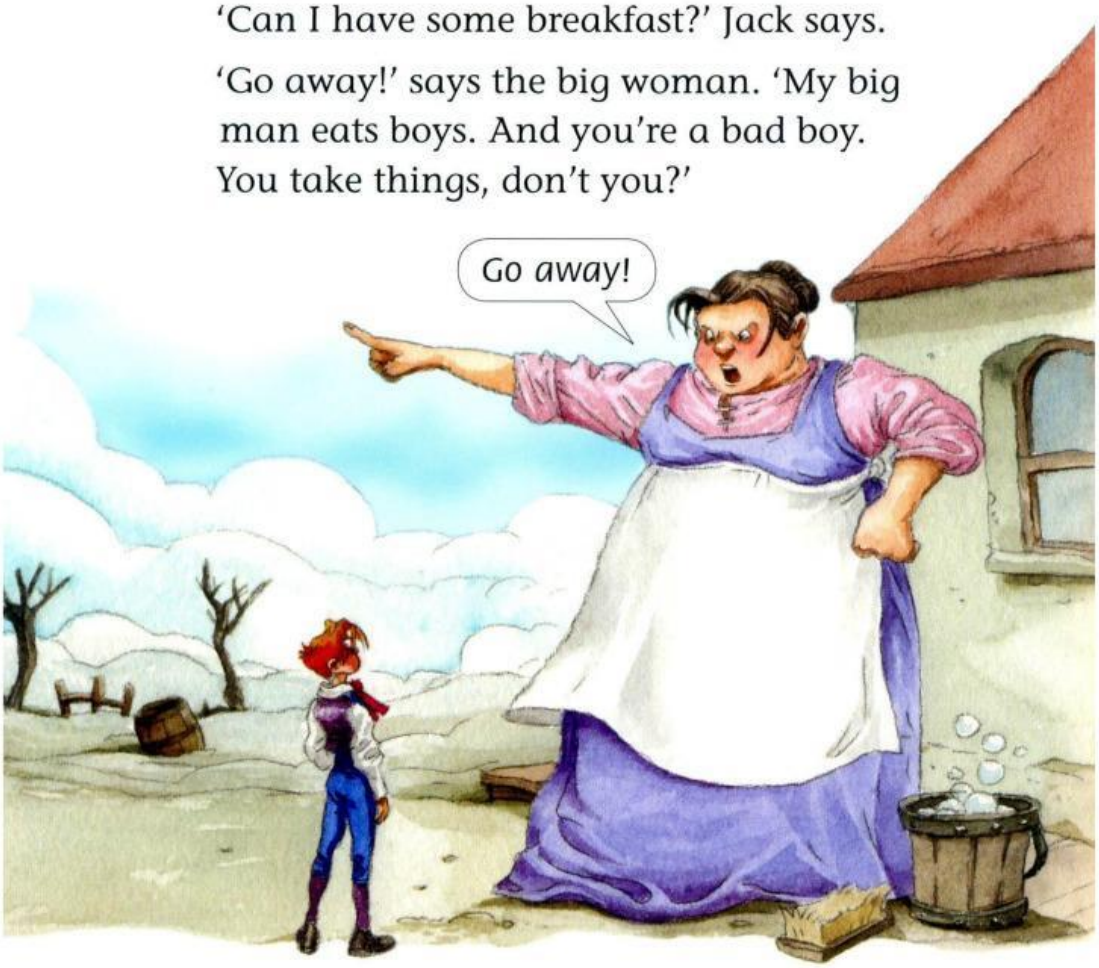

He comes to the road again. He walks and walks.

He sees the house again – the big, big house.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

'Can I have some breakfast?' Jack says.

'Go away!' says the big woman. 'My big man eats boys. And you're a bad boy. You take things, don't you?'

'I don't take things,' says Jack. 'That's another boy. I can tell you his name. But I want some breakfast first.'

'All right,' says the woman. 'Come in.'
