Hiroshima is a special place in Japan with an important story. A long time ago, there was a big bomb that fell on Hiroshima during a war, and it caused a lot of damage. But something wonderful happened after that. The people in Hiroshima worked really hard to fix their city, and now it's peaceful and nice.

One special thing in Hiroshima is the Peace Memorial Park. It has a big, peaceful flame that will keep burning until all the world's big bombs are gone. There's also a pretty pond with colorful fish, and you can see lots of paper cranes there. Paper cranes are special because a brave girl named Sadako folded many of them to wish for peace.

Hiroshima is famous for its yummy food too, like Hiroshima Okonomiyaki, a tasty noodle dish. People in Hiroshima are friendly, and they like to welcome visitors. So, even though Hiroshima had a sad past, it's a hopeful and happy place now.
