

From Informal to a Strong Personal Statement

Objective: Improve your academic writing by transforming informal sentences into strong Statement of Purpose

Part A: Rewrite the Sentences

1. I like English.
2. I really like teaching.
3. I worked as a teacher.
4. I taught many students.
5. I am good at communication.
6. I can work in a team.
7. I learned many things.
8. I improved a lot.
9. I want to study this course.
10. I want to learn more.

Part B: Match the Sentences. (Informal vs Academic)

1. I want a good job.
2. Because I like it.
3. I did many activities.
4. It was very difficult.
5. I want to help people.

- a) I actively participated in various academic and extracurricular activities
- b) I faced significant challenges, which strengthened my resilience
- c) I aim to build a meaningful career in this field
- d) I aspire to contribute to the development of my community
- e) This interest was developed through my academic experiences

Part C: Complete the Sentences

1. I have developed strong _____ skills through my experience.
2. I am motivated to pursue this program to further develop my _____.
3. I had the opportunity to teach students from _____ backgrounds.
4. I significantly improved my _____ and problem-solving abilities.

Part D: Rewrite the Paragraph

"I like teaching and I worked with many students. It was difficult but I learned a lot. I want to study this course because I like it and I want a good job."

Your version
