THE IMPORTANT CULTURAL VALUE OF TRADITIONAL TẾT DISHES

Tết, Vietnam's most important holiday, is a time for families to reunite and welcome the Lunar New Year. Traditional Tết dishes hold great cultural and spiritual value, symbolizing respect for ancestors and good wishes for the new year. These dishes include bánh chưng (square cake), boiled chicken, spring rolls, pickled onions, and bamboo soup.

Elderly Hanoian Trương Thị Hội shares that Tết trays not only bring families together but also reflect Vietnam's cultural identity. Bánh chưng, a dish made from sticky rice, green beans, and pork, is considered sacred and represents the universe. It provides energy for winter days and was created thousands of years ago to show gratitude to heaven, earth, and family.

Boiled chicken, another key dish, is carefully cooked to retain its flavor and symbolize strength and integrity. Pickled onions are served alongside bánh chưng to improve digestion and enhance flavor.

For overseas Vietnamese like Nguyễn Thị Sương, these dishes connect them to their roots. Living in Germany, she misses her family's Tết tray, particularly bánh chưng and pickled onions. She hopes to reunite with loved ones soon to celebrate Tết with traditional meals that preserve Vietnam's rich cultural heritage.

Question 31. What is the main idea of the passage?
A. Tết dishes are just delicious and tasty meals.
B. Tết dishes represent cultural and family values.

Question 34. The word enhance in the passage is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.
A. decrease the quality of the meal
B. preserve the flavor of the dish
C. improve the taste of the food
D. maintain the original ingredients

Question 35. Why is boiled chicken considered important during Tết?
A. It represents strong values and integrity.
B. It provides energy for long winter days.
C. It is always served with bamboo soup.
D. It is eaten with pickled onions daily.

Question 36. According to the passage, why do overseas Vietnamese miss Tết dishes?
A. Tết dishes remind them of their family.
B. Tết dishes are rare in other countries.
C. Tết dishes take time to prepare abroad.
D. Tết dishes are only eaten in Vietnam.
