The Hung Kings' Temple Festival is considered one of the most significant national festivals in Vietnam. Annually, people all over the country head towards Phu Tho province to commemorate the founders of the country - Hung Kings.

The festival is held annually from the 8th to the 11th day of the third lunar month, and the main festival is held on the 10th. On this traditional occasion, Vietnamese people from every part of the country come to Phu Tho province to commemorate their ancestors. The main ceremony takes place at Hung Kings' Temple on Nghia Linh mountain, beginning with a bronze drum performance. The people prepare offerings, including traditional dishes such as Banh Chung - Banh Day, fruit, flowers and incense to express their gratitude towards their ancestors.

Besides the ceremony, there are also a lot of activities during the festival. People can take part in traditional folk games such as bamboo swings, rice cooking competition and lion dance. An exciting activity that cannot be left out in a typical Vietnamese festival is human chess, where people take the role of various
