Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions from 27 to 32.

Life in Vietnam has changed a lot over the years. In the past, most people lived in the countryside and worked as farmers. They used simple tools, travelled by bicycle or buffalo cart, and spent their evenings without electricity. Houses were often made of wood or bamboo with thatched roofs. People wore traditional clothes such as "ao ba ba" or "ao dai" and cooked with firewood. Although life was hard, it was peaceful, and neighbours always helped one another with love and care.

Today, Vietnam has become a modern and developing country. Many people live in cities and work in offices, factories, or shops. Technology has made life easier — almost every family has a motorbike, smartphone, or even a car. Streets are brighter, houses are taller, and children have better education and entertainment. People enjoy watching films, eating out, travelling during holidays, and using the Internet for study or work.

Even though modern life is more comfortable, some traditional values remain the same. Vietnamese people still respect their parents, love their homeland, and celebrate traditional festivals together. The mix of old customs and modern lifestyle makes life in Vietnam rich, diverse, and full of hope for the future.

Question 27: What is the passage mainly about?

A. The development of technology and transportation in Vietnam

B. Differences between farmers' work and city jobs in Vietnam

C. Changes in Vietnamese life from the past to the modern time

D. How traditional festivals are celebrated in modern Vietnam
