

In this activity, you will listen to a short audio about a teenager named Liam and his daily habits. After listening, you will answer 5 multiple-choice questions about what you heard.

This is a listening comprehension task — that means you need to pay close attention to the audio, not read. Your goal is to understand the key details and choose the correct answer for each question.