

Sir Charles Baskerville suddenly not long ago. People in the county were very . He was a kind and man. Everyone who met him liked him.

His family was old and once very rich, but later they had money problems. Sir Charles made a lot of in South Africa. Then he decided to and returned to England with his fortune. This was a wise thing to do.

He lived at Baskerville Hall for only years. (write as a text)

During that time, he had big plans to improve the house and help the area. He had no , and he wanted all the people around him to have a better life. He often gave money to local charities.

The official investigation did not explain everything about his death. But there is no reason to think it was a .

The doctors say he died from causes. Sir Charles was a widower (his wife had died). He lived in a way, even though he was rich. His only servants were a married couple – Barrymore and his wife. Barrymore worked as the butler, and his wife was the housekeeper.

Their story, together with what his friends said, shows that Sir Charles had problems with his . He sometimes looked pale, had trouble breathing, and often felt very nervous or . Dr. James Mortimer, his friend and doctor, said the same thing.