

THE ADVERB

Adverbs of certainty and probability. We can use the adverbs probably, possibly, definitely, surely, certainly and undoubtedly with will to give more information about how sure we are. The adverb generally goes after will and before won't / will not.

e.g. We'll possibly go for a walk this afternoon.
I'll definitely see you sometime next week.
They probably won't arrive before midnight.
Ana will surely help other peers as well.

e.g. Paul is rather shy. He doesn't talk much.
I quite like tennis, but it's not my favorite sport.
They walked rather slowly.
Ana was pretty sure she had no problems.

Adverbs of degree are used to show the intensity or degree of something. They can be used before adjectives, verbs, or other adverbs. Common adverbs of degree: fairly, pretty, quite, rather, scarcely, very.
