Advice for travelling

Travelling and holidays are wonderful, but we all know that they can bring some problems. We asked three people for their advice. Let's see what they say …

Malia: In my opinion, when you visit a city, you should always download a map of the city transport as well as a street map. It's easier to check train and bus times on your phone. Also, make sure you check your hotel has everything you need. I went to a hotel that didn't have any parking last year. The place I parked in was really expensive so next time, I'm going to check that before I book a room.

Damian: Don't spend too much time looking for information about hotels and restaurants, or good places for shopping on the internet before your trip. I think it's better to look for places when you arrive. Last year, I went to Tokyo and I just walked around without a plan. I found some great restaurants and ate some delicious food. Remember to think carefully about what you are going to wear, too. I always take a jacket and a jumper because many places get cold at night, even in the summer.

Suzanna: I really enjoy planning holidays because I don't want to forget important things like my camera or a towel. I think everyone should make a list to help them remember what to take. A few years ago, I went on a walking holiday and I didn't take my boots. I spent two days trying to find some new ones. That wasn't a good way to spend my time.
