4. You have received the following message from a student called Liam:

Hi,

I'm writing to you because I really need some advice.

I'm a secondary school student, and recently I've been feeling very stressed about my studies. I have a lot of homework every day, and I also have many tests and exams. I try to study hard, but sometimes I feel tired and unmotivated.

I often compare myself with my classmates. Some of them get very high scores, and that makes me feel nervous and disappointed in myself. Because of this, I'm afraid of making mistakes in class, so I don't usually raise my hand or ask questions.

At home, my parents want me to get good results, but I think they don't really understand how much pressure I feel. I don't want to worry them, so I usually keep everything to myself.

I want to improve my grades, but I also want to feel happier and more confident at school. What should I do?

Thanks for reading my message.

Liam
