Weekend Activities

Watch TV

People enjoy their free time in different ways. Some watch TV in the evening and relax at home. Others listen to music after school. This helps them feel happy.

Many children play games with their friends in the park. Some students study English at home to learn new words. On the weekend, families visit their grandparents and spend time together. Some people walk a dog in the park. Others help their parents at home. These activities make people feel good and busy.
