

Prepositions of Transport

Angelina's busy day

Angelina had a busy day. In the morning, she walked to the bus stop and got on the bus to go to the city centre. There, she met her friend Joe, who had come by train from his town. Together, they walked around the shops and then decided to visit a museum. They went there on foot because it was nearby.

Later, they wanted to go to a park, so they took a taxi. Angelina sat in the taxi next to Joe, and they both enjoyed the quick ride. When they arrived, they saw a group of people on bicycles and scooters enjoying the sunny weather. Angelina smiled, thinking she'd try going by bike next time. At the end of the day, Joe went back to the station and got on the train to return to his town, and Angelina went home by bus.
