

Exercise 1

Read the text and answer the questions.

- Where are these people from?
- What are they famous for?
- When did these people start living without money?
- Why did they decide to do so?
- Where do they live?
- What do they eat?

They live without money

Daniel James Shellabarger also known as Daniel Suelo was born in 1961 in the USA. In the autumn of 2000 Daniel stopped using money and now he lives absolutely without any money. In the past, Daniel had a job and a house and his life was very similar to our lives, but one day he decided that money was an illusion and that he didn't need it anymore. First, he travelled a lot and visited many places, but then he decided to stay in one place.

He lives in caves near Moab, state Utah, the USA. He says he needs very little food for living. He eats grass and small animals that die in road accidents. He also looks for food in dumpsters in the nearby cities. Suelo has few friends, but he is very popular in the USA and abroad. He has given many interviews, there are a lot of articles about him and you can find much information online. His friend Mark Sundreen wrote a book about Suello called "The man who quit money".