

REINFORCEMENT. WRITING: REPORTING AN INTERVIEW

Last week, I interviewed a person from my family or community about their job and how it has changed over time. First, I asked them what their job was like in the past, and they told me that

.....
They also explained that things were different because

Then, I asked about their job today. They said that now, and they mentioned that one of the biggest changes is

They also added that technology, which has changed the way they work.

At the end of the interview, I asked how they felt about these changes. They said that
....., and they shared a personal memory that they still remember: