A teen deterrent?

A There is a sound which can only be heard by young people. It is so high, that people over the age of 25 cannot hear it at all. However, for teenagers, it's one of the most annoying sounds in the world.

B Recently, in the UK, a special device has been invented – an alarm which uses this special sound. The makers claim that it can deter young criminals. In many cities around the UK, it's common to see bored teenagers hanging out near shops, or in parks. Most don't get into any trouble. But some end up committing crimes, like fighting other people, painting graffiti on walls, or breaking windows or phone boxes. The alarm is designed to make these teenagers want to go away.

C The person who invented the alarm, Howard Stapleton, said that he had had the idea when his 17-year-old daughter went into a shop, and a group of other teenagers outside were very rude to her. He tested different sounds, and found out that teenagers could be made to go away from an area if they heard a special type of noise.

D Other people in the area have started using these sound alarms. Thousands of shops across the UK have now taken them up. Many people have been very happy with the results. They explained that the number of crimes had gone down and their areas had ended up safer and nicer to live in.

E However, there are problems with the alarm. Perhaps the biggest is that the sound deters everyone under the age of 25 – not just criminals. For example, it can make very young children feel sick. Some mothers have said that it had made their children cry, and they couldn't play outside any more.

F Other people think that the alarms are a very bad idea, because they create areas where it is not possible for young people to go to and spend time in. Not all teenagers are criminals, but the alarm treats them as if they are.

G Other teenagers have turned the special alarm into an advantage. They have made it into a special ringtone for their mobile phones. Because only young people can hear it, they can now get text messages or phone calls in class without their teachers hearing anything at all!
