Working in TV as a teenager

by Louise Adams

Three years ago, when I was 17, I got a job as a runner at NTV – my local TV channel. In the world of TV, runners do anything that's needed on the TV set; they make drinks for the actors and camera operators and go out to buy food, as well as move things around the set and pass messages to people. I couldn't believe it when they offered me the job! To begin with, it was for three months, but then they said I could stay for longer. I want to continue working in TV so I knew this was a good opportunity.

Lots of my friends had part-time jobs then; some of them worked in a supermarket, putting things on shelves, and some worked in restaurants. The ones working in restaurants could make good money when it was busy because they got quite a few tips. I didn't earn great money as a runner because I didn't work every day, but for me it was about more than money. The experience was much more important and I know I was having more fun!

I'll never forget my first week at work. I worked with another runner and she explained what I had to do. We were working on the set of a popular comedy programme and quite a few of the actors were there. I just wanted to look at them all the time because, before that, I'd only seen them on my TV, screen and now here they were in front of me. It was amazing! Mum and Dad are big fans of that programme and watch it every week, but I've never been crazy about it. The people I met were lovely and we've been good friends since then.

The job I do at the moment with the wardrobe department isn't too difficult. Actually, I'm happy to do whatever I'm asked to do because I know all of this will help me to get a different job with NTV soon. Who knows – maybe there'll even be a Louise Adams TV Show one day!

- 1 What do we learn about Louise in the first paragraph?
A  She needed a long time to learn the job at NTV.
B  She feels lucky that she was given a job at NTV.
C  She thinks that some parts of her job at NTV are boring.
- 2 How does Louise compare her job with her friends' jobs?
A  She believes she enjoyed work more than her friends.
B  She says she worked more hours than her friends.
C  She thinks she earned more money than her friends.
- 3 What did Louise especially enjoy during her first week at NTV?
A  Making lots of new friends
B  Watching some of the actors work
C  Meeting other staff from the channel
- 4 What does Louise say about her parents?
A  They love one of the programmes on NTV.
B  They just started watching NTV after Louise got her job.
C  They prefer NTV to all the other television channels.
- 5 What does Louise know she will do in the future?
A  Have her own programme on the same television channel
B  Help with clothing at the same television channel
C  Do another job with the same television channel

- 6 What is Louise doing in this text?
