

Topic: Law Students and Legal Skills

Level: Basic English

Reading Text

Maria is a first-year law student. She studies at a university in Bogotá. Maria is very organized. She can read legal texts in English, and she can write short legal reports. She can also speak with clients politely.

However, Maria has some difficulties. She can't understand very difficult legal vocabulary, and she can't speak English very fast. She also can't attend classes on Saturdays because she works at a law office.

Maria's friend Daniel is also a law student. Daniel can use legal databases very well, and he can prepare presentations for class. But he can't arrive late to court practice because the professor is very strict.

Both students want to become excellent lawyers in the future.

Multiple Choice Questions

1. What can Maria do?

- A. She can drive a bus.
- B. She can read legal texts in English.
- C. She can teach mathematics.
- D. She can cook for the class.

2. What can't Maria understand?

- A. Police reports
- B. Spanish books

C. Difficult legal vocabulary

D. Music lyrics

3. Why can't Maria attend classes on Saturdays?

A. Because she travels.

B. Because she works at a law office.

C. Because she plays sports.

D. Because she studies medicine.

4. What can Daniel do well?

A. He can use legal databases.

B. He can repair computers.

C. He can speak French.

D. He can draw maps.

5. What can't Daniel do in court practice?

A. He can't speak to clients.

B. He can't write reports.

C. He can't arrive late.

D. He can't study law.