Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the following questions.

For young people, planning a career now means more than choosing a job they like. They also need to understand how work is changing. In the past, a person might learn one set of skills and use it for many years. Today, however, technology and new customer needs are changing the way people work.

Automation is one clear example. When a machine can do a task faster, more accurately and at a lower cost, that task may become obsolete. This has happened to some simple jobs in ticket offices, factories and service counters. However, technology does not only take work away. It also creates new opportunities in fields such as online business, video editing, digital services and software development.

Because of these changes, workers need more than technical knowledge. They often have to collaborate with other people, share information, and solve problems together. A doctor may work with nurses and technicians to manage digital records, and a hairdresser may use an online booking app to arrange visits and communicate with customers before they arrive. Even jobs that seem practical or traditional may now require basic digital skills.

There is no single career path that suits every student. University may be the right choice for some, while vocational courses may help others prepare for skilled work sooner. To build a successful future, teenagers should develop useful skills, stay curious, and be prepared for further changes in the job market.

Question 3. The word "obsolete" in paragraph 2 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.

A. useful and up-to-date B. useless and outdated
C. simple and repeated D. cheap and common

Question 4. The word "It" in paragraph 2 refers to _____.

A. work B. technology C. business D. machine

A. work harder B. work together C. work longer D. work alone

Question 6. Which of the following is TRUE according to the passage?

A. Students should believe that one career path is suitable for everyone.

B. Workers in practical jobs never need to use digital tools at work.

C. Hairdressers use online booking apps to avoid meeting customers.

D. Automation can change some jobs, but technology can also create new roles.

Question 7. According to the passage, why might a hairdresser use an online booking app?

A. To work without speaking to any other people.

B. To replace all practical skills needed in hairdressing.

C. To stop customers from visiting the salon in person.

D. To make appointments with customers before their arrivals.

Question 8. What is the main idea of the passage?

A. Students should choose one job and never change their career plans.

B. Technology has made all practical jobs disappear from the future job market.

C. Teenagers should build skills to adapt to changes in the job market.

D. Vocational courses are always better than university courses for teenagers.

Mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct option that best fits each of the numbered blanks.

MANAGING YOUR TIME BETTER

Many teenagers feel stressed because they have too much schoolwork and too many activities after class. To study more effectively, students should build good time-management habits. One useful way is to make a clear timetable and write down important tasks. This helps students avoid forgetting homework or leaving everything until the last minute.

Students can also divide big tasks into smaller steps. For example, instead of trying to finish a whole project in one evening, they can complete one part each day. This makes the work less difficult and gives students more confidence. (9)_____ can also help them stay calm before exams.

Another useful habit is to keep away from distractions while studying. Students should turn off unnecessary notifications and choose a quiet place to work. This (10)_____ their lessons more carefully and finish their homework faster.

Good time management is not only about studying. Teenagers also need time for rest, exercise and family. If they plan their day well, they can have enough time to relax without feeling guilty. This can improve both their physical and mental health. It may also help them (11)_____ better results at school.

However, students should not make their timetable too strict. A good plan should be realistic and flexible. When something unexpected happens, they can change their schedule instead of feeling stressed. Learning to manage time well is an important skill because it has a strong (12)_____ students' future success.

(13)_____ students practise these habits regularly, they will become more independent and responsible. They will understand that (14)_____ is not only about working hard, but also about working wisely.
