Lions live in families. The males are b than the females and they have l hair on their heads. This hair is called a mane. Most lions live in southern Africa, but there are some in India. Lions sleep for about 18 hours a day.

Tigers live in forests in Asia, Sumatra and Java. Some tigers are b than lions. Tigers are rare in the wild because people hunt them for their fur. Tigers live alone and hunt at night.

They love water and can swim very well. Leopards and jaguars are very similar, but leopards live in Africa and Asia and jaguars live in central South America.

Like tigers, they live alone. Leopards are s than jaguars. Jaguars have l tails. Snow leopards are the r big cats. People hunt them for their fur. They live in high mountains in central Asia. Cheetahs are the f animals.
