DENZIL ACADEMY MAGAZINE

You're going to meet new classmates, so here's an introduction to a few...

Classroom types

A. The joker

Tends to be small with skinny legs, narrow shoulders, a head that's too big for his body and a sharp tongue. He's really bright and he knows it, but he's lazy and dislikes homework. Jokers are talkative (they never shut up!), outgoing, and very funny. Although they seem friendly, they can be cruel to you behind your back. They're very careful about their appearance because although they love laughing at others, they can't stand it if anyone laughs at them. So they always have a cool haircut, and they never wear checked shirts, knitted jumpers or striped pyjamas. They prefer a T-shirt, blue jeans and a leather jacket.

B. The swot

Some swots are tall and slim, others are short and fat, but they all have really pale skin because they're always in the library. They're polite, sensible, responsible and hard-working. They admire their teachers and they look down on immature, irresponsible kids. To look more intelligent, they wear glasses even if they don't need them. You might think they're dull and boring and have lonely lives, but they feel calm and relaxed because they know they're going to be successful in life. They have zero fashion sense. They love school uniforms and 'smart' clothes and don't mind carrying briefcases or umbrellas.

C. The sporty

Athletic build, clear complexion, broad shoulders and lots of muscles? Must be a sporty. Sporties favour short dyed blond hair and very little make-up (especially the boys). Good-natured and strong-willed, they make loyal, reliable friends, although sometimes they're not as tolerant and sensitive as they should be. They're not stupid, but they don't do well at school because they're exhausted after all their training. Usually quiet and reserved, but they can get frustrated, depressed or even aggressive if they lose a match. They love casual sports clothes and wear tracksuits, trainers and a baseball cap at all times.

D. The fashion victim

Open the fashion victim's wardrobe and you'll see designer bras or boxer shorts

WELCOME BACK
after the summer!

(depending on the victim's sex), tight pullovers, short skirts, baggy trousers, jeans and tops and tights and socks and lots of pairs of shoes and boots. The fashion victim only has one hobby - shopping. You might think they're shallow, vain and selfish, but in the mirror they see someone cool and attractive with shiny hair and lovely eyes. Fashion victims only ever fall in love with other fashion victims, and they're always in a good mood - except when the shops are shut.

TEST WIELOKROTNEGO WYBORU « 18

1 Odpowiedzcie w parach na pytania.

- 1 Do you read glossy magazines? What do you like or dislike about them?
2 What is a dating website? Why do people join dating websites? What do you have to do to join?

treningnaturalny

Skąd wiemy, która odpowiedź jest właściwa?

2 Przeczytaj fragment artykułu i pytanie egzaminacyjne. Dopasuj objaśnienia 1-4 do opcji A-D oraz uzupełnij znajdujące się w nich cytaty.

You open a glossy magazine. What do you see? A photo of a model, male or female, whose body is so perfect that it's clearly impossible. You know it was created in Photoshop, but you still think, 'I wish I looked like that'. The unrealistic body image promoted by the media causes a lot of suffering. Take the case of Sandy: she was a normal, cheerful, lively girl. About the age of thirteen she became obsessed with magazine photos of models and film stars. She started dieting and couldn't stop. At fourteen she had to go to hospital to be treated for anorexia. This sort of thing happens all the time, to women of all ages and even to men. It's time the media stopped behaving in this irresponsible way.

When people see impressive photos of models in magazines, they

- A don't realise the pictures have been changed on a computer.
B ignore them because they know they are fake.
C may become obsessed and even ill.
D behave irresponsibly.

- 1 This option is wrong because the text says: You still think '_____'.
2 This option is wrong because in the text the phrase refers to the media, not to people: It's time the media stopped _____.
3 This option is wrong because the text actually says the opposite: You know it was _____.
4 This option is correct because that is what happened to Sandy and the text says it happens all the time.

 - B it is important to dress well if you go clubbing.
 - C some clubs don't let you enter if you're not a member of Beautifulpeople.net.
 - D you don't need to belong to Beautifulpeople.net to have fun.
- 6 The author believes that
 - A we should like everyone.
 - B it is wrong to dislike Beautifulpeople.net.
 - C it is a good thing to judge people by their appearance.
 - D Beautifulpeople.net should change its name.

4 Odpowiedzcie w parach na pytania.

- 1 Do you agree with the author of the article?
- 2 In your view, how important is appearance and personality?
- 3 What is your opinion of the dating website described in the article?

A dating site for beautiful people with ugly minds

Beautifulpeople.net

Donna Dunne speaks her mind

BEAUTIFULPEOPLE.NET is a dating website. To join you have to send in a photo of yourself along with a profile describing what kind of person you are. Then after you have joined, you make contact with other members in the hope of starting a loving relationship.

But Beautifulpeople.net is different from other dating websites. It's an online club with a very exclusive membership: it only accepts beautiful people. Once you have sent in your picture and personal description, you then have to wait for three days to see if you're 'beautiful' enough to become a member. During this time other club members study your profile and decide if you can join or not. However, only 'beautiful people' of the opposite sex can judge you. If they think you're really good-looking, they vote 'to allow you to become another 'beautiful person'. But if they don't find you attractive, they may send you rude messages criticising your appearance. Many people try to join, but only one in twenty is successful.

Groucho Marx once said, 'I refuse to join any club that would have me as a member'. That's funny, but there's nothing funny about Beautifulpeople.net. I would refuse to even try to join such a worthless organisation. It uses a cruel, arrogant system that can make good people feel frustrated, lonely and insecure. It sells the sad idea that appearance is more important than personality; that it is more important to have perfect teeth, a smooth complexion or a sexy body than it is to have a lively personality or to be friendly, easy-going or generous.

This idea, of course, is not restricted to Beautifulpeople.net. Last weekend, I went to a new club with some friends. I was wearing a short denim skirt, a sleeveless silk top and high heels and they let me go in. But they told my friend Debbie she couldn't enter. Why not? Maybe it was because she was wearing some baggy jeans, a hooded sweatshirt and a pair of old trainers or maybe they didn't think she was pretty enough. Debbie's a cheerful outgoing girl with a great sense of humour, but at that moment she felt miserable and depressed and started crying. And that is how the thousands of people who are rejected by Beautifulpeople.net must feel.

Personally, I can't stand people who look down on others just because of their appearance. I find them narrow-minded and intolerant. So I have a suggestion for the people who run Beautifulpeople.net. Why don't you change the name of your dating website to Uglyminds.net?

1 Dopasuj trzy znaczenia słowa smart (a–c) do zdań 1–3.

What does smart mean?

- 1 Chris was wearing a smart, grey jacket.
 - 2 Kevin thinks he's not smart enough to study Maths.
 - 3 This smart microwave oven reads the barcodes on packaged food and programmes itself.
- a (of a person, remark or action) intelligent,
b (of a device) appearing to act in an intelligent way by responding appropriately to the situation,
c (of people, clothes or places) attractive and neat; elegant, fashionable,
