My Personal Style

Fashion has always been a way for people to express their personality, but for me, comfort and practicality are just as important as appearance. I generally prefer wearing stylish, classic, and functional clothes because they are versatile and suitable for different occasions. Although I enjoy looking fashionable, I tend to choose outfits that allow me to feel comfortable throughout the day.

There are several fashion trends that I find unattractive. Extremely flashy clothing, for example, rarely appeals to me because it often attracts attention for the wrong reasons. Likewise, I dislike overly sloppy styles that create the impression that little effort has been made. While some people enjoy quirky or funky outfits, these trends do not usually match my personal taste.

Whenever I buy clothes, quality is one of my main priorities. High prices do not necessarily prevent me from buying an item, but poor quality certainly does. What matters most to me is finding clothes that reflect my personality while remaining practical and comfortable. In the end, I believe personal style should make people feel confident rather than simply following every new trend.
