10 Penguin Mania

WOULD YOU LIKE TO SEE REAL PENGUINS?

Visit Sea Life Aquarium in London. It brings Antarctica to you!

In May 2011, Sea Life opened Ice Adventure – a new display showing a family of Gentoo penguins. This display is very different from other penguin exhibits* because visitors can get very close to the penguins. Visitors put on snow goggles and travel through an icy area that is one of the coldest places on Earth. They can touch walls of real ice or put their hands in freezing pools. Then they reach an ice cave. Here they can look at the penguins from a window and watch them playing and diving in the water. There is also a visitors' center where visitors can learn how to protect* penguins.

Toby Forer, the manager of Sea Life Aquarium, says that Ice Adventure is a different experience from just going to the zoo. He wants to give visitors a real taste of Antarctica right in the middle of London. Toby knows that penguins always make people smile and that's what he wants to do too. But he also wants to help visitors understand about the natural* world these birds live in and how we can make it a better place.
