Different animals have different needs. Some animals eat only plants, while others eat animals. Some need a lot of water, while others need less water. Some need to live somewhere warm, while others need to live somewhere cold. Animals live in habitats that have everything they need. If a habitat doesn't have what an animal needs to survive, it's hard or impossible for the animal to live there.

2. Look at each animal below. Could it live in a desert? Circle your answer. Then explain why the animal could or could not live in a desert.
