A Visit to Green Island

Last Saturday, Amir and his family visited Green Island. The island is small, but it is a beautiful place. There is a long beach with white sand and clear blue water. Behind the beach, there is a thick forest. Many birds live in the tall trees. Amir saw a colourful bird, a small monkey and some butterflies.

In the afternoon, the family walked to a waterfall. The path was narrow, but it was safe. Amir's sister, Sara, took photos of the rocks, flowers and insects. Their father said, "We must not throw rubbish here. Animals need a clean home." The children put their empty bottles and food wrappers into a bag.

Later, they went to a small village near the coast. The people in the village were friendly. A guide told them that turtles sometimes come to the beach at night. However, bright lights and plastic rubbish can be dangerous for turtles. Amir felt sad when he heard this.

Before going home, Amir wrote in his notebook: "Green Island is quieter than the city. It is also one of the most beautiful places I know. We must protect it." Amir wants to visit Green Island again and help clean the beach.
