NEEDS vs WANTS

Needs and Wants: A Shopping Day

Every Sunday, Sara goes to a supermarket with her mother. Sara has RM30 that she saves from her weekly allowance. Before shopping, her mother reminds her to think carefully about what she really needs and what she simply wants.

First, Sara buys some notebooks, pencils, and a flask for school. These are her needs because they help her to learn and stay healthy. She also buys some bread and milk for breakfast at home. Food and drinks are needs because people need them to live and grow.

While walking around the supermarket, Sara sees a new toy, a box of chocolate, and a cute keychain. She likes them very much and wants to buy them. However, these items are her wants because she can live without them.

Sara checks her money and decides to buy only the things she needs. She saves the balance of her money for the future. Sara feels happy because she makes a smart spending decision.

Read the passage above and identify the needs and wants mentioned in the passage. Then, write the answers inside the table below.

Making Smart Choices

Aina receives RM20 every week from her parents. She likes to save some money and spend the rest wisely. Before buying anything, her father reminds her to think about the difference between needs and wants.

One day, Aina goes to a shopping mall with her family. First, she buys a notebook, a pencil case, and a bottle of water for school. These are her needs because they help her study and stay healthy. She also buys rice and eggs for dinner at home. Food is a need because people need it to live and grow.

Later, Aina sees a colourful teddy bear, a new video game, and a pair of sunglasses. She likes all of them, but she knows they are her wants. She can still be happy and comfortable without buying them.

After thinking carefully, Aina decides to buy only the things she needs. She saves the rest of her money in her savings. She feels proud because she makes a smart decision and learns that saving money is also an important habit.
