Shopping Choices

A. Mrs. Brown

Mrs. Brown owns a small grocery store near the market. She is known for good service because she always listens carefully to each customer. Last week, she offered a small discount on fresh fruit, and the mangoes sold like hot cakes. By lunchtime, there were none left.

B. Ben

Ben is quite economical, so he never buys the first thing he sees. Before buying a new school bag, he likes to shop around and compare prices in different stores. Yesterday, he found a real bargain: a strong backpack at half price. He kept the receipt carefully in case he needed to return it.

C. Lily

Lily went clothes shopping with her sister. She tried on three jackets in the fitting room, but one jacket had the wrong size on the label. The cashier was polite and helped her find another one. Later, Lily and her sister went window shopping and looked at expensive dresses without buying anything.
