

A farmer is a person who grows crops and takes care of animals. Farmers work very hard every day to produce the food we eat. They wake up early in the morning and go to the fields. They plant seeds, water the crops, remove weeds, and harvest fruits, vegetables, rice, and wheat when they are ready. Some farmers also raise cows, goats, chickens, and sheep. They feed the animals, give them clean water, and keep them healthy. Farmers use tools such as tractors, shovels, and watering cans to help them work. Farmers help everyone because they grow healthy food for people. Without farmers, we would not have rice, fruits, vegetables, milk, or eggs to eat. Farming is an important profession because it provides food for families, schools, hospitals, and markets. Farmers work in all kinds of weather, including sunny and rainy days. We should respect and thank farmers because they work hard to make sure we have fresh and healthy food every day.

Who is a farmer?

What does a farmer do?

Who do farmers help?

Why are farmers important?

Where does a farmer work?

When do farmers start their work?

What tools do farmers use?