

TASK 1 :"Why Drinking Water Is So Important"

Water is one of the most important things our bodies need. In fact, about 60% of the human body is made of water. We use water in every part of the body — from helping to digest food to controlling body temperature.

Staying hydrated is essential for good health. When we don't drink enough water, we may feel tired, dizzy, or even get headaches.

Dehydration, which means not having enough water in the body, can affect our brain, mood, and energy levels.

Doctors recommend drinking around 8 glasses of water each day.

However, this can change depending on your age, how active you are, and the weather. For example, people who exercise a lot or live in hot climates may need more water.

You can also get water from other sources, such as fruits, vegetables, and soups. Foods like cucumbers, oranges, and watermelons contain a lot of water.

To stay healthy, remember to drink water regularly — not only when you feel thirsty. Keeping a water bottle with you is a simple way to remind yourself.
