[BÀI 2] LISTENING

Listen and complete the script

Boy: What are you bringing for the (1) _____?

Girl: My mum bought some (2) _____ for us to take, but apparently Ellie had already said that she'd bring some, so I thought about making some (3) _____ instead. Or we've got loads of (4) _____ at home - I'm sure my parents wouldn't mind if I took a few apples and bananas and so on.

Boy: I think Harry's bringing fruit.

Girl: In that (5) _____, I'll go with my other (6) _____. We've got plenty of (7) _____ and cheese and things.

Boy: Great! Let's hope the (8) _____'s good tomorrow.

Girl: How was your weekend?

Boy: It was good, thanks. There's a (9) _____ on in town at the moment that my sister wanted to go to. I said I'd prefer to go to the big football match that was on at the (10) _____. My parents said they'd rather go to the river for a picnic instead, though, so everyone wanted to do different things. Then it started raining, so I got what I wanted in the end because the roof closes when it rains, so we could avoid getting (11) _____.

Boy: How was the zoo?

Girl: I really enjoyed it - there were so many different animals to see. My favourites are usually the (12) _____. My little brother and I laugh so much when they walk around the pool - they look so funny! It's a shame that they were all in the water, swimming yesterday - because it was so hot, I suppose. So it was the monkeys playing in their tree that were the biggest attraction for me this time, although seeing the baby (13) _____ with its mum came a close second.

Girl: I watched three really different films this weekend. The first, called "Heart", was a romantic film set in New York. It was pretty entertaining, but I couldn't help thinking I'd seen it all before. The next one I watched was called "Run!" and it was an (14) _____ film. I started watching it again as soon as it had finished, even though I knew what was going to happen the second time around. Finally, I watched "The Dark", a horror film that I found about as scary as a kids' cartoon.

Boy: Who're these guys in the picture with you? They look like (15) _____.

Girl: That's because they are. They're my cousins, John and David. This picture was taken last time I saw them.

Boy: So how can you tell the difference? Is one taller than the other or anything like that?

Girl: Well, there's not really any obvious difference except their voices which are totally different. John's is deeper. But somehow, I don't know. I always know which one is which. Maybe because I've known them all my life.

Boy: Right, I see.
