

Exercise 1:

Listen to the poem and complete with the word you hear:

Circle of friends by Gillian Craig

Why do we call it a circle of friends?

The reason is it _____ bends.

The shape won't change with someone

If there are many or just a few.

A circle is strong, it can shrink or grow

As you meet new people you'd like to

Or lose a friend in a silly fight

There are others there; it will be all right.

A circle never runs out of space

Come and go, there'll be a place.

A gap can close and open again

To be filled _____ you, no matter when.

There's always room for another one

Another person to share the fun

Another person who you can share

Your feelings with, who will always care.

Inside the circle, the space is free

To play with one or two or _____.

Skates and scooters, books and toys

To share with _____ girls and boys.

Other shapes have angles and lines

You really can't change _____ designs.

Bend like the circle, make it wide
